NORTHERN IRELAND AND THE OVERSEAS TERRITORIES

THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY

- On the northeast coast of Northern Ireland
- It is made of cca 40,000 massive black basalt columns created by volcanic eruption.
- 50-60 million years old

THE LEGEND

- “A giant called Benandonner is said to have built a causeway from Scotland to fight with another giant - Finn Mac Cool. Finn Mac Cool pretended to be a baby in a pram and his mother told Benandonner that the baby was Finn Mac Cool's brother Finn Gal. When Benandonner saw how strong the baby was, he thought that Finn Mac Cool would be stronger than him and he ran back across the sea to Scotland, tearing up the causeway as he went. He left in such a hurry that he his boot came off and it is still here today. As well as the boot there are also shapes of a camel and pipe organs in the walls of the cliffs.” 2)

HISTORIC TOWN OF ST GEORGE AND RELATED FORTIFICATIONS, BERMUDA

- The earliest settlement in the New World
- Vivid example of British military engineering from 17th century to 20th century

THE STORY OF ST. GEORGES

“In 1609, a fleet of nine ships owned by the Virginia Company of London set sail from Plymouth, England with fresh supplies and additional colonists for the new British settlement at Jamestown, Virginia.

Admiral Sir George Somers commanded the flagship, the Sea Venture, but en route there was a terrible storm and the ship was dashed against Bermuda's treacherous reefs. The crew managed to get to land and so began Bermuda's settlement.

In 1610, the Deliverance and Patience, loaded with fresh supplies, set sail for Virginia, leaving behind a couple of men to stake a claim to the island.

The town of St. George was founded in 1612 and was our capital until 1815, when it was changed to Hamilton.

Stroll through the alleys and along the waterfront; take a step back in time. Visit Gates Fort and Fort St. Catherine, peer across the harbour from Barrack Hill, close your eyes and imagine the sights and sounds of an era that is long gone but still echoes around the historic Town of St. George.“
